BOARD SUBMITS PROPOSALS TO RAIL LEADERS

Reported That Overtures Are Made to Rail Men to Rescind the Strike Order

CONFERENCES PENDING

No Program is Reported in Morning Session in Final Effort to Avert Tieup

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Ben W. Hooper, of the railroad labor board, left the conference today of the Big Five union executive shortly after noon. He said the strike had not been settled yet, that settlement could hardly be expected while he was at the meeting.

RAIL CHIEFS MEETING.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Executive committees of the Big Five Brotherhood who possessed the power to call off the railroad strike scheduled for next Sunday met with their five chiefs in a conference said to have been called at the instance of the railroad labor board.

The proposition said to have been made to the railroad employer after yesterday's public investigation is that they could call off the strike and in trust to the labor board adjustment of the complaints which led up to the strike vote.

T. C. Cashen, head of the switchmen's union, asserted after yesterday's session of the board's investigation that nothing had been brought out which would affect the strike call.

To Give Decision.

Members of the board announced after the hearing that they would make known their decision on the threatened strike which the railroad executives say is in violation of the board's wage cut of July 1 today or tomorrow.

The Brotherhood leaders at the investigation yesterday with the exception of W. G. Lee, of the trainmen, admitted that the proposed reduction and changing in rules were an influential in the strike vote as the wage cut of July 1 is already in effect. At the same time T. DeWitt Cuyler, a chairman of the association of railway executives, told the board that none of the carriers had any intention of trying to make further changes in wages or working conditions without due process through the board.

NELSON SAYS I. V. A. WILL WIN

Predicts Majorities Ranging From 10,000 to 15,000

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Success for the independent Voters Association forces in the recall election election tomorrow by an elastic majority was predicted today by Theodore G. Nelson, secretary of the Association.

The recall election was instituted in an attempt to place R. A. Nestor, Sveabjorn Johnson, and Joseph A. Kitchen in the positions of governor, attorney general and commissioner of agriculture and labor now held by Lynn J. Frazier, William Lemke and John N. Hagan, who were elected last November with Nonpartisan league endorsements.

"Indications are that there will be at least 200,000 votes cast," Mr. Nelson said. On that basis the contest will be close, but if the Independents get their votes out, Nestor, Johnson and Kitchen will be elected and the independent program approved by majorities ranging from ten to fifteen thousand.

"If a larger vote is cast, which is probable, the majorities will be larger, especially if the Independents make a special effort to get the women to the polls."

"This is not merely a hand-wagon prediction. We have checked up every county and there is no doubt about the people ordering a change of administration in state affairs if every independent voter goes to the polls."

In addition to the balloting for state officials, six initiated laws and three constitutional amendments also will be voted upon tomorrow. The initiated laws and one of the constitutional amendments—that placing a limit upon the bonded indebtedness of the state—have the official sanction of the Independent Voters Association.

$60,000 JEWEL THEFT REPORTED

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 27.—Jewelry said to be valued at $60,000 and an automobile in which Sam Herwitz, a salesman, was conveying it from one retail jewelry establishment to another was stolen here today by two men who jumped into the car and drove away immediately after Herwitz had stepped out of it.

TRAIL MEETING

Reeder, N. D., Oct. 27.—North Dakota's Yellowstone Trail meeting will be held here November 11. Election of a Dakota member of the executive committee will be held and a complete statement of the business of the trail association will be made.

T. R.'S BIRTHDAY IS OBSERVED BY MANY THOUSANDS

New York, Oct. 27.—Civic and memorial organizations joined today in celebrating the 63rd anniversary of Theodore Roosevelt's birth in a series of ceremonies here and at Oyster Bay, the Long Island village where the former president spent the last years of his life.

The program at Oyster Bay included pilgrimages to Roosevelt's grave by delegations of Spanish and World War veterans, boy scouts and school children of the village who were chosen to lay a wreath on Roosevelt's grave.

COURT BATTLE IS SEEN AFTER RECALL FIGHT

Lemke Asserts in Speech Here That Several Thousand Fraudulent Signers Found

BORGLUM ALSO SPEAKS

Declaration by Attorney General William Lemke in a speech at Patterson hall last night to the effect that the recall election is an "illegal election" because of fraudulent signers to recall petitions was taken to forecast legal action following the recall.

The attorney general declared the investigation of the signatures had proceeded far enough for him to be able to say that there were several thousand duplicates, or fraudulent signers, enough so that there were not enough legal petitioners to entitle them to a recall election.

It was the closing meeting of the recall campaign for the Nonpartisans here. Gutson Borglum, New York sculptor, followed Mr. Lemke.

Mr. Lemke attacked T. G. Nelson, secretary of the Independent Voters Association, asserting that Nelson had sought to frighten merchants and bankers into contributing funds to the I. V. A. and quoted from a letter purporting to have been sent to merchants and bankers, asserting Nelson's motto was "Scare them first and bleed them afterwards."

He said John Skelton Williams, formerly comptroller of the treasury, had declared the Bank of North Dakota is the greatest institution in the country and that there must be 47 other such institutions "before the farmer, the merchant, the banker is free from the grip of Wall street."

He said that 25,000 people in South Dakota had signed a petition for an election on the establishment of the Bank of South Dakota, and that similar action would be taken in Illinois.

He declared that he had "for the rank and file of the men and women who oppose us the same profound respect I have for our own people," but that he had no respect for the leadership of the opposition.

The time has come when the fight between the farmers and merchants should cease," he said. "It is detrimental to the best interests of each and to the state of North Dakota, and it is only kept up because cheap politicians prey on the fears of merchants and bankers."

Borglum Speaks.

Mr. Borglum discussed national issues, referred to his investigation of the aircraft service, and declared that if he had half a dozen Lemkes he could wipe the old parties off the map. He flayed Governor Preus, of Minnesota, as a "steel trust governor," and declared that he was speaking as a Republican and friend of President Harding when he pleaded support for the Republican administration.

The recall election was instituted in an attempt to place R. A. Nestor, Sveabjorn Johnson, and Joseph A. Kitchen in the positions of governor, attorney general and commissioner of agriculture and labor now held by Lynn J. Frazier, William Lemke and John N. Hagan, who were elected last November with Nonpartisan league endorsements.

"Indications are that there will be at least 200,000 votes cast," Mr. Nelson said. On that basis the contest will be close, but if the Independents get their votes out, Nestor, Johnson and Kitchen will be elected and the independent program approved by majorities ranging from ten to fifteen thousand.

"If a larger vote is cast, which is probable, the majorities will be larger, especially if the Independents make a special effort to get the women to the polls."

This is not merely a hand-wagon prediction. We have checked up every county and there is no doubt about the people ordering a change of administration in state affairs if every independent voter goes to the polls."

In addition to the balloting for state officials, six initiated laws and three constitutional amendments also will be voted upon tomorrow. The initiated laws and one of the constitutional amendments—that placing a limit upon the bonded indebtedness of the state—have the official sanction of the Independent Voters Association.

PREUS IS DUE HERE TONIGHT

Governor J. A. O. Preus, of Minnesota, will precede R. A. Nestor in a speech at the city auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight, it is expected. Mr. Preus will arrive in Bismarck on No. 4, is expected to speak promptly at 8 o'clock and then go to Mandan.

Mr. Nestor is expected to come to Bismarck from Fargo.

HARDING TALK IS CRITICISED

Washington, Oct. 27.—President Harding's address in Birmingham on the race question was described as "an unfortunate and mischievous utterance" by Senator Harrison of Mississippi, a Democratic leader in a formal statement.

The prediction is that the race question will be voted upon tomorrow. The vote of confidence accorded the premier was considered a great political victory, the final ballot cast in the house being 381 to 186 after days of debate, which often was most bitter.

The initiated laws and constitutional amendments also will be defeated overwhelmingly if our expectations are realized."

The election is aimed at the recall of Governor Lynn J. Frazier, Attorney General William Lemke and John N. Hagan, commissioner of agriculture and labor, who were put into office at the election in November won the Nonpartisan League endorsement.

Six initiated laws and one constitutional amendment sponsored by the Independent Voters Association, the party opposed to the league, also will be voted upon at tomorrow's election.

The circumstances of the tragedy bear a striking resemblance to the recent murder in California of Rev. Patrick E. Heslin. Like the California case Father Belknap was called from his home before daylight ostensibly to administer the last sacrament to a dying man.

Bishop J. J. Lawler, at whose residence Father Belknap made his home, expressed the belief that the shoot-

Liederbach and Nelson Predict Victories in Election To Be Held Friday

COURT ACTION TO FOLLOW?

Both Nonpartisans and Independents Indicate Fight May Not End With Election

WHAT THEY SAY
"The Nonpartisan league will be victorious in tomorrow's election by the greatest majority ever returned for league candidates in North Dakota," said A. A. Liederbach, league state chairman.

"Nestor, Johnson and Kitchen will be elected and the independent program approved by majorities ranging from ten to fifteen thousand," said T. G. Nelson, secretary of the Independent organization.

The eve of North Dakota's first recall election—the first in any state in the union involving state officials—finds both factions in the campaign confident of victory.

Every Nonpartisan and every independent candidate down to messenger boys in the state headquarters breathed the usual campaign spirit of optimism and predictions of victory flowed freely upon all sides.

The big question in the minds of all was the extent of the vote. Some politicians have remarked that the recall election will be decided not by those who go to the polls but by those who stay away. Two hundred and twenty-nine thousand men and women voted in the last general election.

Nelson predicted the Independents would win by from 10,000 to 15,000. Chairman Liederbach, of the Nonpartisan state committee, did not place the majority he believed the league would win by. But hoped for an "overwhelming" victory.

Concern Over Laws

The Nonpartisans appeared to voice great concern over the initiated laws. Last fall the vote on the initiated laws was several thousand below that on candidates. The passage of any one of the initiated measures, the leaguers declared, would be a severe blow at the state government.

The candidates will be at their homes tomorrow. R. A. Nestor will go to Minot from Bismarck and Governor Frazier is closing near his home at Hoople. The Governor probably will vote early Friday and reach

Critical Condition of Irish Peace Negotiations May Interfere

London, Oct. 27.—Prime Minister Lloyd George probably will have to abandon his visit to Washington or at least postpone it until the closing sessions of the conference there because of the critical situation in the negotiations with Sinn Fein Ireland. It was asserted by several well-informed newspapers here today that the premier has made no public statement to this effect but his political and personal friends were quoted as communicating the report to inquirers as if publicity was desired.

BRAND GIVEN NOTE

Paris, Oct. 27.—Premier Briand today was making final preparations to leave on Saturday for America where he will attend the conference on limitation of armament and Eastern questions. He will appear in Washington as the spokesman of the French people and parliament armed by a mandate given him in the Chamber of Deputies last night. The vote of confidence accorded the premier was considered a great political victory, the final ballot cast in the house being 381 to 186 after days of debate, which often was most bitter.

State Chairman Gives His Estimate of Campaign

London, Oct. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Overwhelming victory for the National Nonpartisan League in the recall election to be held in North Dakota tomorrow was the claim made here today by A. A. One of the old west's landmarks disappeared today when the Northwest hotel was destroyed by fire.

In this hotel General George A. Custer, General Terry and other notables of pioneer Indian-fighting days had stopped, when it was the Sheridan house. For years it was the finest hostelry in Bismarck, where political leaders of the state made their headquarters.

The Sheridan House, one of three hotels built in the Northwest by E. H. Bly, occupied the site where the Northern Pacific railroad station now stands. It was a big frame building.

It was the scene of a great celebration when the Northern Pacific transcontinental railroad was completed, and was the center of social life when the old Seventh cavalry was at Fort Lincoln.

It was leased in 1893 to E. G. Patterson and E. S. Allen, Mr. Patterson taking full control a year later.

In 1891 it was moved to the site of the Northwest hotel building, its name was changed to the Northwest, and it was brick-veneered. E. G. Patterson said today that the Northern Pacific railroad placed $65,000 in

LEGION POSTS WILL OBSERVE ARMISTICE DAY

Posts Scattered Throughout World to Observe Ending of World War

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 27.—Posts of The American Legion throughout the United States are arranging for celebrating the third anniversary of Armistice Day. The national headquarters of the Legion here has received information from the posts and from units of the Women's Auxiliary which indicates that interest in the proper observation of this new American holiday is widespread.

Large public meetings are being arranged in many communities and more than a thousand Legion posts will stage symbolic pageants. Plans have also been completed for large meetings in New York, San Francisco and Chicago at which the audiences, by means of amplifiers used in connection with long distance telephone wires, will hear the addresses made at the burial services in Washington for an unknown soldier.

John G. Emery, national commander of the Legion, today issued the following statement to Legionnaires regarding Armistice Day celebrations: "At eleven o'clock on the morning of November 11, 1918, an entire world weary and worn bent under the disaster of the world's war, knelt in thanks to God. The guns ceased booming. The roar of their firing no longer smashed around the world in terrible thunder. A new note was in the air, high, clear and strong, a symphony of joy. A new hope was in every heart, a hope and a prayer that the fighting of nation against nation of people against people had ended for all time."

"Three years have passed. We are about to celebrate the third anniversary of that occasion when, for the last time, the runner dashed across the field of death and carried to the farthest outpost the order 'cease fire.' We want to go back in spirit and thought to that grand moment. We want to recall, in full, the purpose common to every one at that moment to do each his or her share to make impossible, ever again, such a disaster. Let us do this in celebrations that will include every American citizen."

"We want to recall the thrill that came to each of us, whether at the front or at home, in the knowledge that we had done our duty. We want especially to turn aside from the routine of daily life and to remember the sacrifices of those whose pride is that they gave of their dearest and best, and of those among us, torn and crippled, who gave of themselves. These are our heroes—our living monuments to American ideals, to American principles, to American citizenship."

PRODUCE 20,000 BUSHELS
Jamestown, N. D., Oct. 27.—165 acres of the State Hospital Farm here produced 20,000 bushels of potatoes this year. Because of lack of storage room, 5,000 bushels were sold.

MINOT PLANS TO HOLD POTATO SHOW AND CARNIVAL IN NOVEMBER; CORN PRODUCTION ALSO EMPHASIZED

Minot, N. D., Oct. 27.—Minot will be "at home" to the people of northwestern North Dakota Nov. 17, 18 and 19 when Minot's first big community carnival and the Ward County Corn and Potato Show will be held simultaneously. It is planned to have the corn and potato show and lectures and addresses incidental to it in the High School Auditorium while the carnival will be in the armory and will, it is stated, be one of the most elaborate community efforts Minot has ever undertaken.

The Corn and Potato Show will be patterned after former shows with extra effort being made to have it more representative of the entire county. E. A. Madson of Burlington, elect-general chairman of the committee in charge at the meeting of farmers and business and professional men held in the Association of Commerce rooms Monday, states that indications are that the show this year will be featured by an exhibit from every community in the county. As in former years there will be no admission charge for the show or the meetings held in connection with the show. Dr. Coulter, president of the North Dakota Agricultural college, will be one of the speakers here during the show.

Ernest that he shall succeed. Unless one and all agricultural workers are prepared to give of their best, agriculture generally will fail, and that quickly. Until everybody on a farm regards a bad time-keeper as a thief, we shall never attain efficiency."

English Farmer Blames Labor For Losses on Farm

London, Oct. 27.—S. F. Edge, a well known motorist whose scientific farming in Sussex has given him almost equal rank as an agriculturist, says that under present conditions farming in England does not pay.

He has offered to turn over to a committee of his farm workers farms worth 20,000 pounds and, leaving them to them to have available in the town library the proper books needed for her farmer lost money. Faced by a falling market he has had to pay wages out of capital. Thus grazers have been losing from 10 to 15 pounds per head of stock. Actually this year it pays me better to feed my stock on wheat than to sell the wheat.

After keeping his sheep for two years, the farmer gets a shilling a pound for the mutton which the butcher sells for 28d a pound, making his 100 per cent profit in a week. On most farming land I can today only track a profit on pigs.

"With price of farm produce falling so fast that the cost of production is more than the price for which the animals or crops can sell, the farmer is faced with this situation: Unless he can reduce production costs, either he must give up farming—while he has still something left—or go bankrupt.

To reduce costs he must reduce wages or reduce the number of his employees. But even such reductions will not allow him to remain in business unless all his employees are in

This is a Studebaker Year

For the first eight months of 1921, our sales of Studebaker Cars were 41% greater than for the same period of 1920, and 101% greater than for the same period of 1919. For the same period, our sales of Repair Parts were 13% less than in 1920, and 3% less than in 1919.

On September 1st, 1921, there were approximately 116,000 more Studebaker Cars in operation than two years ago, and yet our parts business is 3% less than it was in 1919. This proves conclusively that—

Military Record To Be Placed in Public Library

A permanent record of the military activities of Burleigh county during the world war is to be placed in the local public library by the committee for war-history of Burleigh county. A room has been obtained in the public library for this particular purpose. As soon as some sort of shelving can be obtained by the committee, which has no funds, records already available will be placed there. Gift of shelves would be welcomed by the committee.

It is planned to have a complete record of the service of Burleigh county boys, a record of what civilians did to help the cause along, newspaper files, any kind of souvenirs of the war, and any other records indicative of the part Burleigh county played in the great conflict.

Mrs. Robert Orr, of this city, is county chairman, having been designated by Mrs. C. F. Amidon, state chairman. Similar undertakings are in progress in most of the counties in the state and in some public support has been given. The Ward county commissioners voted $100 to aid in compiling the record in that county.

The fast Bismarck and Mandan football teams will clash on the local gridiron tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in a game which will decide the champion team of the southwestern district of the state.

It had been announced by the Mandan high school that they would not play unless they could use their star quarterback, McDonald. Charges have been circulated that McDonald was ineligible.

Both teams have gone through hard work since their last game and it is expected that the game tomorrow will be one of the best of the season. Bismarck has not played any games since the Mandan-Bismarck game at Mandan. Mandan has the advantage of having a game with Dickinson since that game. Both teams are out to win and a good game tomorrow is assured.

TAKE UP FIGHT ON NONPARTISANS IN WISCONSIN

New York, Oct. 27.—The old Greeks discovered the secret of making all women look graceful.

Of course, Greek ladies were not supposed to be too fat or too thin.

Today we see the adaptation of the Greek robe design in the most up-to-date and so-called tailored costumes.

The brought-over draped front which gives a coat effect is one adaptation, which is shown here.

The straight-lined gown with the crossed-over drape conceals a multitude of sins against symmetry.

There is nothing in the outline to make it unpopularity with the perfect thirty-six-waist.

This gown is of navy blue crepe matelasse.

Deep ruffles give the gown a coat effect especially desirable for street wear. The sleeves are large and angel-shaped, long and graceful.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 27.—Wisconsin Republicans engaged in the fight on the Nonpartisan league and other political factions will meet in Milwaukee on Washington's birthday to recommend candidates for U. S. senator and state offices, according to a call issued last night by the committee of four.

There is nothing in the outline to make it unpopularity with the perfect thirty-six-waist.

It disappears in a mass, so soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will impress you most will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair arise and downy at first yes -- but really new hair growing all over the scalp. "Dandine" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorate and strengthens them. This delightful, stimulating tonic helps thinness, aids hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.

PRESERVE PARTY ORGANIZATION

On the eve of the recall election it is fitting to say a final word relative to the inadvisability of passing the I. V. A. primary laws. There can be no defense of these laws which would break down party organization. It is futile for the adherents of the I. V. A. to claim that by preserving party selection of candidates for Congress, presidential electors, national committee men, delegates to national conventions and candidates for the United States senate that parties are not abolished.

The opposite is true. Break down party interest in elections to state offices and you deprive the people of the salutary operation of the influence of the minority party opposition upon the majority in state affairs.

Minnesota found that by abolishing party lines in the selection of candidates for the legislature party structure suffered, and in recent campaigns it has been hard to present issues and conduct too. The Tribune sold its space to the Nonpartisan league state industrial commission. This was legitimate and proper. The newspaper has the same right to sell its products as any merchant has.

When the I. V. A. joint campaign committee through the columns of the Mandan Pioneer assails The Tribune for accepting League advertising, it convicts itself of insincerity.

Its charges about public printing are childish. It has been hard to present issues and conduct too. The Tribune is under $55,000 bond to deliver campaigns. Public indifference grows and the power of the political clique increases under the I. V. A. plan.

The Tribune desires in this connection to present a strong editorial from the New York Times entitled: "Government By Parties." Every argument advanced applies with equal force to the pernicious primary laws to be voted upon tomorrow. An extra primary is forced upon the people which is only an additional burden upon an already oppressed tax payer. The editorial follows:

Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin rather likes the chaos in the Senate. He glories in the fact that the Tax bill has been torn to pieces by Republican revolters. To his mind this is proof of splendid independence, each Senator following his own judgment of what is wise and right. Mr. Lenroot denies that he himself belongs to any 'bloc,' but of the bloc movement itself he highly approves. He prefers a bloc to an Old Guard. The new method of splitting into groups he praises. Possibly this is on the theory of Sydney Smith, who said to his vestry, when they were debating how to lay a block pavement in front of the church, 'Just put your heads together, gentlemen, and the thing is done.'

What the Wisconsin Senator does not appear to perceive is that these divisions and disintegrations in the Senate are blows at government by party. Under that system we have elected to work, and hitherto it has operated fairly well. The people have looked to one party or the other to agree on a program and then carry it out. Afterward, the voters have known where to give credit and where to place blame. But now, in the break-up of party loyalty and party discipline at Washington, the mischief is twofold. Responsible leaders lose control of legislation; and the people have to single out for punishment not a compact party organization, but quarrelling individuals. Thus the ordinary political remedy is taken away from the voters.

Take the concrete case of popular resentment at the way in which tax matters have been handled by Congress. Upon whom shall the indignation fall in next year's election? The Republican leaders will say that the fault is not theirs; they would have done better had it not been for the revolt in their party. The revolutionists count upon pleasing their own constituents and snapping their fingers at the rest of the country. Besides, they were joined by most of the Democratic Senators, so that there does not exist the clear alternative of another party to put in power. This is the kind of confusion and demoralization sure to result when we get government not by party, but by groups and factions. Instead of rejoicing at what has been done to destroy Republican cohesion, Senator Lenroot, as a thoughtful student of American politics, ought to be seriously disturbed by it."

NEW YORK

It costs only 80 per cent more to live in New York City now than it did in 1914, says an official report. That isn't far out of line with other big cities. Rents, controlled by laws, average only 44 per cent above 1914.

On the surface, New York seems to a visitor the costliest town in the world. But the hotel and theatrical district are for tourists. They are not the real New York. Next time you are there visit the lower East Side if you want to see metropolitanism at its height.

UNDULY EXCITED

In an eleventh hour broadside in a signed statement by the Joint Campaign Committee, The Mandan Pioneer takes The Tribune to task for accepting a two page advertisement from the Nonpartisan League, paid for at current space rates. It proceeds in a front page article to lambast The Tribune for accepting this business, charging it with high crimes and misdemeanors. But in its own paper of the same date, it publishes a two page advertisement from the I. V. A. marked political advertisement for which it was presumably paid.

Indeed the silly season of the campaign has arrived. The Tribune has no apologies to offer for accepting a two page advertisement from the forces backing Frazier, Lemke and Hagan.

If the Joint Campaign Committee can find no better ammunition than to fight newspapers that sell space, it has a sorry cause indeed. Does a merchant ask a customer when he comes to buy a pair of shoes whether he is an I. V. A. or a leaguer?

Is it a crime in the state of North Dakota to afford either political party a forum in the columns when it pays for the space used?

The chief commodity of a newspaper is its white space. It sells it at a given rate and its columns are open to matter that is not libelous or indecent.

In the same issue of The Tribune that carried the two page spread for the League were several advertisements inserted by the I. V. A. organization.

Last winter the Mandan Pioneer in common with The Tribune sold its space to the Nonpartisan league state industrial commission. This was legitimate and proper. The newspaper has the same right to sell its products as any merchant has.

When the I. V. A. joint campaign committee through the columns of the Mandan Pioneer assails The Tribune for accepting League advertising, it convicts itself of insincerity.

Its charges about public printing are childish. It has been hard to present issues and conduct too. The Tribune is under $55,000 bond to deliver campaigns. Public indifference grows and the power of the political clique increases under the I. V. A. plan.

When the Fargo joint campaign committee seeks to attack a Bismarck institution and injure it by malicious lies, it throws suspicion upon every statement made. Such tactics are beneath contempt.

The Tribune has no apologies to offer for its position. The I. V. A. recall election is a monumental blunder whether it wins or loses. Types of men directing its policies have political records that smell to the high heavens.

This paper or this corporation is not a campaign issue as vigorously as the I. V. A. has attempted to drag them in. It is the oldest Republican paper in North Dakota and has never yet backed a mugwump drive to destroy all parties and hoist into power men who went into the Nonpartisan League in the early stages and stood for the very men they are now fighting.

We can still say that we never pulled an oar with Job Brinton, Art LeSueur, "Paddy" Norton, Gronna and the rest who once licked the League hand that fed them politically.

It is up to every citizen to vote tomorrow as his conscience dictates. The Tribune refuses to dictate the franchises of any of its readers. The issues have been joined. All that is necessary is to probe beneath the surface to locate the sordid motives that instigated this election and now direct its course.

THE DANCING PASTOR

A little station in Oklahoma—Kingfisher is the name of it—travellers looking out of the train windows never fail to see an old Negro who sings and dances on the platform. He jigs away merrily for the coins which the tourists throw to him. This man, Paul Sykes, is said to have met every train coming into the place for 10 years. It is estimated that he has danced more than 30,000 times and has collected over $2,000.

Perhaps his takings would be more if the travellers understood what he did with his money. For out of his savings he has built a little church of which he is the pastor—the Straight Gate Church, he calls it. Every Sunday he preaches there morning and evening, besides holding street meetings Sunday afternoons. Weekdays he dances for the money to keep things going. If there are those who still believe that dancing in itself is wicked, they would do well to consider the case of this undaunted, light-hearted Negro, who uses his one talent for the betterment of his race and his community.—Ohio State Journal.

UNBALANCED

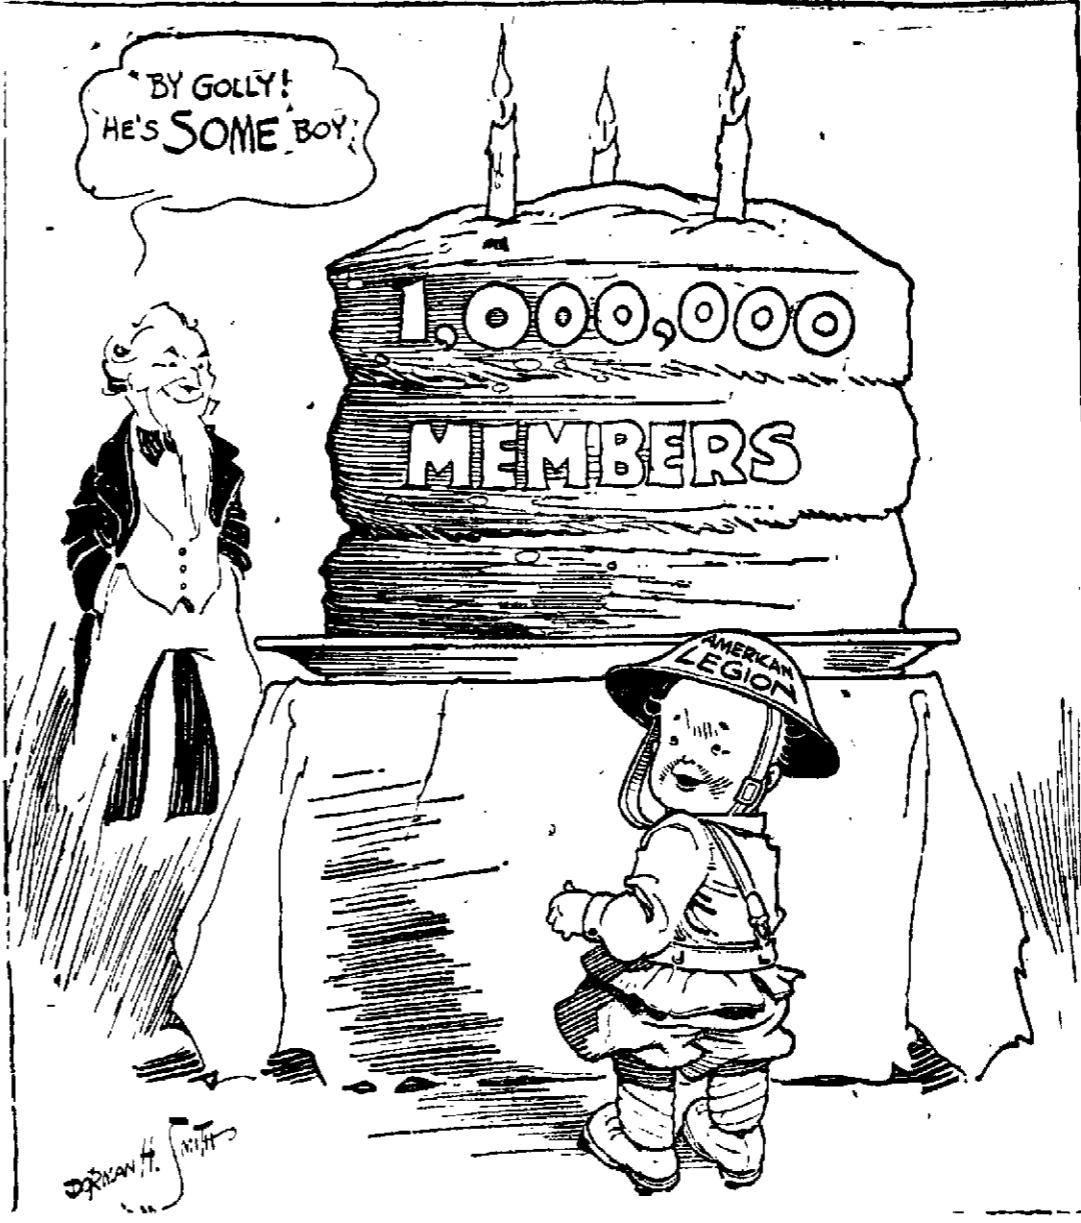

On July 15, 1921, says the Department of Agriculture, prices of the 52 leading articles bought by farmers averaged 159 per cent higher than in July, 1913.

On the same date, however, farmers were getting, for their crops and meat animals, only six per cent more than July, 1913.

You do not have to go any further to learn why farmers are not buying in normal quantities. Until the farmers' incomes are more in balance with prices they are asked to pay, there is not apt to be any real business revival. You cannot buy $259 worth of goods with only $106 in your pocket. Neither can the farmer.

THE BISMARCK TRIBUNE

A HEALTHY INFANT

In a republican form of government we must have parties and party quarrels should be confined in party matters within the party. With our limited election expenses a premium on crooks will really be made if they should be enacted. Furthermore our election expenses will be increased $200,000 without considering individual expenses.

Yours truly,
H. N. Midbo.

The wonder of the age is how women hide it.

One move to enforce prohibition would be to move the Bahamas.

God bless our happy home. We can't.

And if Turkey whips Greece will she take over the Greek cafes?

In times of peace, be peaceful.

Dreams don't go by contraries until they marry.

The trouble with statistics showing prices are lower is you can't eat statistics.

It is hard to tell the truth because you see it so seldom.

"Insects cost this country over $100,000,000 yearly." This doesn't include pessimists.

This weather is so changeable the man in charge must be a woman.

The only thing harder than living within an income is living without one.

Wonder if this move to suppress prohibition jokes is aimed at prohibition enforcement?

Enrollment of Schools Compared

High schools of the state have an average of 79,99-141 students according to the 1920-21 statistics of the North Dakota schools. In making up this average the schools vary from the smallest with ten pupils to the largest with almost six hundred. That many of the high schools of the state are very close to the general average is shown, however, by the fact that but five schools of the state have above 300 pupils, four have between 200 and 300 and twenty-three have between 100 and 200.

With statistics for one of the 142 high schools in the state missing, the total number of high school students is 11,239. Approximating the number of children enrolled in three counties for which figures are not available, from the number of children of school age in the three counties, 167,184 different individuals are under instruction in the high and grade schools of the state. Eliminating difficult fractions, these figures indicate that seven of every hundred students in the public schools of the state are in the high schools and 92 of every hundred in the grades. That there is a great variation in the state is shown from the city of Fargo alone, where thirteen and a half of every hundred are in the high school.

The thirty-three high schools of the state having one hundred or more pupils are:

NEVER WANTS ANYTHING ELSE

The season of coughs, colds, grippe and bronchial trouble is at hand. Every mother will be interested in this letter from Mrs. E. K. Olson, 1917 Ohio Ave., Superior, Wis. "I tried many different kinds of cough medicine, but now I never want anything else than Foley's Honey and Tar. THE VOTER

(Florence Borner.)

Supreme he stands, the ballot in his hand;
Gives him the power to over-rule the land;
On him the world depends to see the light
Of Progress, and forever banish night.To him the politician bends the knee,
To him we look to not gainsay our liberty;
His is the voice which tells proud Privilege: "Beware,"
His the command that sends the people to despair.The voting booth, his stronghold, overnight
Decides the destinies of nations by its might;
Grim ways are fought within its walls, and still
The surge of Time goes on, and ever will.Upon its threshold Privilege trembling sits,
For well she knows the cup that Rancor sips;
While Hope, with anxious face sits just within,
Awaiting for the outcome—will she win?Then guard the ballot—do your duty well,
And of your prowess future years shall tell;
For while that slip of paper you hold fast,
You hold the fate of millions in your grasp.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Off through the waves hurried Nancy and Nick, carrying the bottle of ink Mr. Cuttlefish had given them. They looked this way and that way and every which way for Mr. Whale, for you never can tell just where he's likely to be. He doesn't stay in one place much, but goes anywhere he takes a notion to. Mr. Whale is a funny fellow.

They couldn't see a sign of him anywhere, and Nancy said to her brother that perhaps he had done like the whale in the poem, which goes like this:

"There once was a whale
Who swallowed his tail.
First he turned to tail.
Then to nothing at all."

But Nick said to be patient and to keep on looking, and sure enough just then in the distance they saw a tremendous spout of water which went as high as the fireman's hose, and they knew that Mr. Whale was coming.

Lightly as thistle down the Twins wished themselves on to his broad back, so gently indeed that Mr. whale never for an instant suspected that he had company, and kept on breathing the nice fresh air into his lungs, as whales do you know, being different from fishes, and blowing water up into the air like a park fountain, and enjoying himself like everything else.

But suddenly a dozen huge forms appeared. They seemed to come from nowhere at all, and formed in a complete circle right around Mr. Whale. Nancy and Nick knew at once that they were the wicked sharks. They were snapping their huge jaws and showing their teeth like savage dogs.

Mr. Whale gave a snort of surprise and looked dreadfully worried. "Don't be afraid!" whispered Nancy's soft voice in one of his ridiculous little ears—just holes in his head, really. "We'll save you."

EDUCATION October 22, 1921

Editor Tribune:
Education is a subject in which the average man feels that he is a qualified expert. That he is not is evident by his extravagant demands and baseless criticism. The public needs more knowledge about educational ends and methods. The knowledge must necessarily be given to the public by the teachers themselves. The teacher is to impart that influence necessary to increase the knowledge of the community. Teachers-parent meetings and organizations are doing good service in this subject. They have resulted in creating a better understanding of the schools and a greater willingness to co-operate in

OTHER RAIL STRIKES

By N. E. A.
New York, Oct. 24.—Five times before has this country faced a real or threatened railroad strike. These were:

1. Strike of 1877.
2. Pullman strike of 1894.
3. Threatened strike for eight-hour day, 1916 and 1917.
4. Strike of railroad shopmen and general demand for increased wages. 1919.
5. "Outlaw" strike of railroad switchmen, 1920.

Strike in 1877.
It not accompanied the railroad strike of 1877. It began on the Baltimore & Ohio road, when the men's wages were reduced 10 per cent. It spread through the Pennsylvania System and then throughout the country.

When the Pennsylvania state militia refused to fire on the assembled strikers, national troops were called out to suppress the rioting. The loss to the Pennsylvania road alone amounted to $2,000,000, while Pittsburgh suffered a loss in business and property damage of $5,000,000.

The strike, however, was unsuccessful and it died out a month after it had started.

In 1888 there was a strike of the men on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, which soon ended in the creation of a railroad board of arbitration.

Pullman Strike

The Pullman strike of 1894 began with a walkout on May 11 of the Pullman employees when their wages were reduced an average of 25 per cent.

The American Railroad Union, an organization outside the big four brotherhoods, also called out its members and a general strike of railway workers began on June 26, 1894.

The estimated loss to the country at large as a result of this walkout was said to reach $80,000,000. Troops were sent to Chicago to maintain order.

This strike ended with the indictment of Eugene V. Debs and other leaders for contempt of court in refusing to obey the injunction against striking.

Eight-Hour Fight

There were a few scattered local strikes after that but none came up to the proportions of the difficulty that arose between the government and the railroad men in 1916 and 1917.

A request for an eight-hour day and time and a half overtime caused the intervention of President Wilson, who suggested that the railroads grant the eight-hour day, without extra overtime. Although the brotherhoods favored the proposal the railroad officials rejected it and a national strike was called for Sept. 4.

By Sept. 2, Congress passed the Adamson eight-hour law, which temporarily averted the strike. But the federal district court of Kansas declared the law unconstitutional. After continued controversy the railroad brotherhoods again called a strike to begin March 17, 1917.

The government intervened again and was able to hold up the strike two days until the federal supreme court declared the Adamson law constitutional and the eight-hour law went into effect.

Shopmen's Strike

The strike of 1919 was over the question of wage increases. To conform with the rising cost of living on Aug. 1, Chicago's railroad shopmen walked out and were later followed by the men in New York and Boston. About 135,000 men stopped stretched from several directions. As the flames got into the second story of the rear-wing of the hotel building firemen dragged hose to the top of Gamblin-Robinson company's building across the alley and poured down water upon the burning building.

NORTHWEST HOTEL IS DESTROYED IN EARLY MORNING FIRE

Switchmen's Strike
On April 2, 1920, against the orders of the brotherhood officials, 6,000 switchmen in the Chicago yards walked out. They were dissatisfied with the way the government delayed fulfilling its promise to help the men by reducing the cost of living or bringing about some sort of relief. They wanted a higher wage. The brotherhood officials immediately "outlawed" these strikes. But the strike spread throughout the buildings.

Ammunition Fired
Ammunition in the Bortell hardware store exploded when the tire got into the store, resembling for a brief time the staccato rattle of the target range. Oil in the hardware store fanned up and caused dense smoke.

Third Fire
This is the fourth fire at Patterson's hardware store. The first was last spring in the buildings at Fifth and Madison on the street front the Northwest hotel building. There was no damage to the building.

Prize for Firemen
Much credit is given to the volunteer firemen for their efforts and their success in confining the fire which might have become disastrous to the business section.

O. W. Roberts placed his loss on the garage at $10,000 to $15,000, with only $500 insurance on the contents. The frame building which housed the garage building which housed the Northwest hotel was used as an exposition and there was some question as to the title of the building.

Mr. Roberts had recently contracted to purchase the frame building for $2,600 from F. O. Hellstrom and had made a payment. He also had installed a radiator and battery plant in the garage within the last two weeks.

O. W. and Frank Roberts owned seven automobiles which were destroyed, among them a 1921 Ford car recently purchased by Frank Roberts. There was no insurance on any of the cars.

Mr. Roberts said that most of the 50 cars belonging to owners of the garage were insured. He estimates them to be worth $15,000. An insurance agent of the city of Bismarck, who is of legal age, may vote, if they can comply with residence requirements, as votes of those not registered may be thrown in.

Hotel Loss Big
The Northwest hotel, owned by the Northern Pacific railroad company and was leased by E. G. Patterson, Mr. Patterson also had stored in the hotel many bed-cots, blankets, mattresses and other equipment used in a McKinley hotel during legislative sessions at times of big conventions.

He also owned the bathroom and kitchen plumbing fixtures in the hotel, estimating his loss at from $15,000 to $40,000. He said early yesterday that he believed most of his loss was covered by insurance, although he had not had time to examine his account.

This is the fourth fire at Patterson's hardware store. The first was last spring in the buildings at Fifth and Madison on the street front the Northwest hotel building.

There was only slight wind, thus being from the east. Had it not been for the lack of wind, the rain of the last days which soaked the roofs and the damp atmosphere the fire might have spread to other buildings.

Building Was Intact
The building was intact, the Northern Pacific company in its own insurance fund. Its value is estimated variously at from $15,000 to $60,000.

Mr. Bortell's hardware store was almost completely destroyed, losing several thousand dollars. Mr. Bortell's store, formerly on Fifth street, was burned out in the first Patterson fire last spring.

Some damage was caused to the Hughes Electric company, the Bismarck Gas Company and the North Dakota Independent Telephone company by equipment. Western Union and Northern Pacific telegraph wires stretched in front of the building on Main street and it was feared that they would be torn down by falling walls.

Attorney-General Lemke
here last night characterized the election as "an illegal election" and declared the checking of petitions had gone far enough to show that there were several thousand signatures, and illegal signatures, enough to make it certain that the required number of petitioners did not file for the recall. Lawyers discussed the possibility of a court fight to prevent Nestor Johnson and Kitchen from taking office should this be borne out.

Independent headquarters also issued instructions to workers to watch the polls for violation which may be the basis of court action.

BOTH SIDES IN RECALL FIGHT WAX CONFIDENT

Bismarck at midnight Friday. Polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. tomorrow. All voters of legal age may vote, if they can comply with residence requirements, as votes of those not registered may be thrown in.

Both Campaign Headquarters
Both campaign headquarters issued statement warning their workers to guard against campaign frauds. Careful scrutiny of the voters and watchfulness during the counting was urged. The newspaper press association, of which the Tribune is a member, hopes to get the vote tabulated much earlier in this election than previously. Counting will be a small job in the rural precincts, but the same difficulty of getting the returns in is expected.

The recall election first began to be talked of after the last general election, a year ago. It was talked strongly during the legislature. Following the legislature the Independent Voters Association called a meeting in Devils Lake when R. A. Nesot was nominated. A Joint Campaign committee was formed. Petitions were filed September 19 and the election date fixed by the secretary of state.

May Have Court Fight
Possibility that the political fight will not end with the election was seen in announcements from both camps.

Attorney-General Lemke, speaking here last night characterized the election as "an illegal election" and declared the checking of petitions had gone far enough to show that there were several thousand signatures, and illegal signatures, enough to make it certain that the required number of petitioners did not file for the recall. Lawyers discussed the possibility of a court fight to prevent Nestor Johnson and Kitchen from taking office should this be borne out.

After a swim of more than a mile Leonard came ashore at Prince's Bay, and later went to a garage owned by John Hoag, where he asked if he could rent an automobile to take him to New York. When told there were no cars for rent, he displayed a roll of $20 to show he was able to pay. This failed to get him a car and so he waited until an oil truck driven by a chauffeur for A. Halliwell, an oil dealer at 311 West Thirty-first street, Paterson, N. J., came along. Leonard persuaded the driver to give him a lift, and when the street was headed for the ferry at Hoboken.

FRY EGGS WRONG; "TRAINS MUST RUN," CUMMINS

Father of Transportation Act

Declares for Government Operation if Needed

By N. E. A. Service.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The trains must run if necessary, in case a strike actually develops, the government must take over operation of the lines temporarily until operation by the owners becomes possible.

That is the position of Senator Albert B. Cummins, chairman of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce and father of the transportation act of 1920, under which the roads were returned to private operation.

Cummins maintains that if the transportation act had become law in the form in which it was enacted by the senate, the country would not now be facing the danger of a general strike.

Strike Penalties

The senate bill contained a provision making it unlawful for two or more persons, whether officials or employees of a road, to enter into any conspiracy, combination or agreement "substantially to hinder, restrain or prevent the operation of trains or other facilities of transportation." Severe penalties were provided.

This provision, commonly known as the "anti-strike clause," was bitterly fought by organized labor. It was rejected in the house and eliminated in the conference agreement on the bill.

"There will be no emergency legislation attempted to meet the present situation," Cummins said. "But if the strike does come, it seems certain that there must later be some changes in the law that would prevent such a recurrence."

Provisions Struck Out

"At present there is no penalizing provision in the law to give force to the rulings of the Railroad Labor Board. Lawyers differ as to whether its decisions can be enforced by injunction."

"Already at least two roads have refused to obey its orders and have been cited to explain why."

"Now the employees refuse to abide by its decisions and threaten to strike."

"If the railroads then find they are unable to operate on a sufficiently efficient basis to transport the necessary food, clothing and fuel to supply the nation's needs, there will be nothing else to do except for the government to operate the properties."

DEPEW REVIEWS PUBLIC EVENTS OF MANY YEARS

Former Senator, Now 80 Years Old, Tells of Talks With Lincoln and Others

WHY HE TELLS STORIES

New York, Oct. 27.—Chauncey A. Depew, former United States senator, in the opening installment of "Leaves From My Autobiography," in the forthcoming November issue of Subscription, has written a retrospective of his childhood, youth and public service covering a period of 50 years, from 1861 to 1911. Andrew Johnson, Seward, Chase, Commodore Vanderbilt and other notable men of Civil war days.

"I had a long and memorable interview with President Lincoln," Mr. Depew writes of a visit he paid to Washington in 1867 when he was secretary of state for New York. "As I stepped from the crowd in his reception room, he said to me, 'What do you want?' I answered, 'Nothing, Mr. President. I only came to pay my respects and say good-by, as I am leaving Washington.' It is such a luxury, he then remarked, 'to find a man who does not want anything. I wish you would wait until I get rid of this crowd.'

"When we were alone he threw himself weary on a lounge and was evidently greatly exhausted. Then he inditated, rocking backward and forward, in a reminiscient review of different crises in his administration and how he had met them. In nearly every instance he had carried his point, and either captured or beaten his adversaries by a story so apt, so on all fours, and with such complete answers that the controversy was over. I remember 11 of these stories, each of which was a victory."

Lincoln was always on the lookout for a good yarn, although he told Depew he never "invented" one. One night there was a reception in the executive mansion. Rufus C. Andrews, surveyor of the Port of New York and a confidential adviser of the president on New York affairs, attended the reception with Mr. Depew. As the procession of handshakers moved past, Lincoln stopped Andrews and, leaning over, spoke very confidentially to him, delaying the ceremonies for some time. Momentous issues were impending. Lincoln was in the midst of the

MRS. HAYDOCK SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Followed Advice of Her Druggist's Wife and Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I was in bed with a female trouble and inflammation and had four doctors but none of them did me any good. They all said I would have to have an operation. A druggist's wife told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took 22 bottles, never missing a dose and at the end of that time I was perfectly well. I have never had occasion to take it again as I have been so well. I have a six room flat and do all my work. My two sisters are taking the Compound upon my recommendation and you may publish my letter. It is the gospel truth and I will write to any one who wants a personal letter."—Mrs. E. H. HAYDOCK, 6824 St. Lawrence Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved Mrs. Haydock from an operation we cannot claim that all operations may be avoided by it—but many women have escaped operations by the timely use of this old fashioned root and herb medicine.

LEGION MEN TO HEAR NOTABLES

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 27.—A notable gathering of famous men, soldiers and statesmen, will mark the third national convention of the American Legion here, Oct. 31 to Nov. 2.

Marshall Foch, commander in chief of the allied armies during the last months of the world war, is the principal guest of honor, but there are to be a number of others of great distinction.

Marshall Foch, Legion officials point out, commanded the greatest army, both in numbers and fighting ability, of which there is an authentic record in history. Beside his hosts, the armies of Alexander the Great, Genghis Khan, Attila the Hun and even the hordes of Saracens that swarmed into Europe in the middle ages, were puny forces. This will be Marshall Foch's first visit to the United States, and he has announced his greeting to the American people will be made at the Legion convention.

I am accused of telling a great many stories," Mr. Depew quotes Lincoln. "They say that it lowers the dignity of the presidential office but I have found that plain people, especially plain people, take them as you find them, are more easily influenced by a broad and humorous illustration than in any other way and what the hysterical few may think, I don't care."

In speaking Mr. Lincoln had a peculiar caustic in his voice, caused by laying emphasis upon the key-word of the sentence. In answer to the question how he knew so many anecdotes, he answered:

I never invented a story but I come off a good memory and, I think, tell one tolerably well. My early life was passed among pioneers who had the courage and enterprise to break away from civilization and settle in the wilderness. The things which happened to these original people and among themselves in their primitive conditions were far more dramatic than anything invented by the professional story tellers.

"For many years I traveled the circuit as a lawyer, and usually there was only one hotel in the country towns where court was held. The judges, the grand and petit juries, the lawyers, the clients and witnesses would pass the night telling exciting or amusing occurrences and these were of infinite variety and interest." Referring to Lincoln's adroitness in handling men and his personal humility, Mr. Depew said:

"No president ever had a cabinet of which the members were so independent, had so large individual followings and were so inharmonious. The president's sole ambition was to secure the ablest men in the country for the department which he assigned to them without regard to their loyalty to himself. One of Mr. Seward's secretaries would frequently report to me the acts of disloyalty or personal hostility on the part of Mr. Chase with the result: 'The old man—meaning Lincoln—knows all about it and will not do a thing.'

Mr. Depew tells how he started on a business career that finally brought him to the presidency of the New York Central railroad. He had just been nominated and confirmed as United States minister to Japan at $7,500 a year "and an outfit of $9,000." At the same time he had been offered the attorneyship for the New York & Harlem railroad at less salary. When he told Commodore Vanderbilt about it, the commodore remarked: "Railroads are the career for a young man; there is nothing in politics. Don't be a damned fool."

That decided him and the result was that on January 1, 1921, Mr. Depew "rounded out 55 years in the railway service of this corporation and its allied lines."

The future senator was admitted to the bar in 1858 and immediately opened an office in Peekskill, N. Y., his home town. His first client was a farmer who wanted an opinion on a complicated question. Young Depew "prepared the case with great care." The former asked him what his fee was and he said $5. His client replied: "A dollar and seventy-five cents is enough for a young lawyer like you." And Depew accepted. It only took that the farmer had later gone to an older lawyer and paid $500 for the same advice.

FOOTBALL TEAM
WORKING HARD

Wahpeton, N. D., Oct. 27.—The football team of the State School of Science here is working hard for its big game against its strongest opponent of the year, the Concordia College team. The game will be played at the home of the Lutherans at Moorhead, Minn. The team has won its first two games by good scores, but to win against Concordia it is taking on a real shoulder opponent, and practice the team is pushing accordingly.

During the State Normal School football game last Saturday, the team lost to the Elkhorn team 7 to 5. In the game before that against the Elkhorn team, the State Normal School team, the lone players ran wild and scored 27 points. Their defense was so good the Elkhorn team did not threaten at any time. In the Alton City game the visitors' defense was so good, the visitors failed to get inside the fifteen yard line except when they picked up a fumble and raced for their only score.

Half-Billion-Dollar Freight Bill on Lumber

FREIGHT bills on lumber amount to $500,000,000 a year. Almost as much as the entire cost of cutting the logs in the woods and sawing them into boards at the mills.

Sawmill men have reduced their manufacturing costs to a minimum in order to stimulate the revival of building on a normal cost basis.

Sawmill men have no control over freight rates or the other costs of distribution of lumber. They speak authoritatively only of the cost of lumber at their mills.

Lumber Prices Down To Rock Bottom

SAWMILL men have reduced the price of lumber at their mills more than one-half. Prices of some low-grade items are lower than before the War.

More than 100,000 men are out of work in the lumber industry because sawmills can't find market for their output at a price sufficient to cover the cost of production.

This is in the face of a shortage of not less than 1,500,000 homes, according to Government estimates.

Freight Costs More Than Lumber

MORE than 30,000 sawmills compete for the lumber business of the nation.

This competition normally keeps mill prices down because 20,000 sawmills could supply the demand.

As long as the public has to pay more for the transportation of a carload of 2x4's than it pays for the lumber itself at the sawmill, the benefit of low prices at the sawmills will not be fully shared by the consumer.
